Sorry everyone the first email was incomplete when I accidentally hit a hot key which sent it prematurely ... not sure what mystery key it was. So here is the complete update.

Steve wasn't able to get an update on the bulkhead projects out to everyone so he asked me to send the following.

1. Red and Bonita:

He is developing the plans for packer testing the proposed bulkhead location. He plans to implement this testing this Sept. This provide engineering input on the the hydraulic conductivity of the surrounding rock.

2. Gold King:

Steve is working with San Juan Corp (Todd) on a bid package to enter and secure the entrance this fall. They are in hopes to use a local contractor. If time allows they will try to map portions of the mine. If anyone has knowledge of the mine to share, they are all ears.
